

I believe that we have the right to receive weather and news on our satellite radio. America is becoming a country where a few large companies are dictating what we have access to for their profit. My husband and I pay for our xm and sirius subscriptions and feel they should include the weather and news so we can keep up with what's going on without having to listen to a lot of sexually motivated commercials that I am embarrassed to have on when children are with me. We also travel and it is hard to keep up with channels that are constantly changing.
